It was suggested at first, and the impression seemed to spread for a time, that the Directors opposed the proposal and began to work against it without any good reason on their side for wach opposition. We protest against any such accountion. We have always recognised that the Company is yours and managed by us only in your interests, and that such a step as winding up is one for you and not for the direct tors to decide upon. It was, however, our duty to see that a minority of the shareholders should not everride the wishes and wreck the property of the majority. The shareholders are scattered over the Straits, Java, China Japan, India, and Europe, and it was impossible to next get together a meeting even fairly ropresentative of the general body.
